

An Editorial

OKANAGAN Valley and Interior canneries will put up a big pack of tomatoes. This is the comforting word in thousands of Okanagan Valley homes today. It replaces the threat that the smallest pack in years would be put up. This happy outcome of a threatened deadlock is largely due to vagaries of the weather which have been such as to greatly reduce the Ontario and Quebec crops.

This means that probably very much more than $250,000 will be spent in the Okanagan Valley directly on labor and for tomatoes. A very nice payroll and there will be a stake for winter in many homes that otherwise might be on relief.

Of great importance because it involves a human factor and therefore is subject to the human will, is the compromise reached by three prominent links in the chain. We refer to the acceptance by the growers of a reduced price, by the canners of increased costs, and by the Industrial Relations Board of an abatement of the overtime regulations.

In bringing about the compromise reached, the Okanagan Valley Boards of Trade played a leading part. Their efforts were made effective by judicious and timely publicity in the valley newspapers.

The Okanagan Valley Boards of Trade, after reviewing the situation from the standpoint of the growers and the cannery operators, invited a conference of all the factors contributing to the cost of production, processing and carriage of tomatoes to markets. Their efforts were not welcomed in several quarters. Conferences were called but proved abortive largely through the lack of attendance, and, in the case of the transportation companies, through a smoke screen of inability.

Failing results in the valley, a delegation went to Victoria to present the facts to the government and the Industrial Relations Board which has power to fix wages to be paid by canners and which has authority over hours of work and overtime. As a result, the Industrial Relations Board visited the valley and, following sittings in cannery centres, announced that it would rescind the overtime rates for employees in canneries while working on tomatoes. Through the efforts of the Boards of Trade, the canners agreed to a price of $14.00 and $9.00 a ton on tomatoes and the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board and the growers agreed to make delivery on that basis.

Major credit for the settlement, so far as the human element enters in, is due to the Kelowna Board of Trade and particularly to W. A. C. Bennett. The Vernon Board of Trade consistently assisted throughout and the Penticton, Summerland, and Kamloops Boards also played a part.

Tomato Canning Deadlock Ended

Canners Agree To Pay $14 Per Ton For No. 1's, And $9 For No. 2's—Industrial Relations Board Rescinds Overtime Rates For Cannery Employees While Working On Tomatoes—Spirit of Compromise Saves $250,000

The tomato canning deal deadlock is no longer a deadlock.

This was the welcome news that flashed through the Okanagan on Tuesday, bringing to an end the lengthy period of difficult negotiations, and heralding the start of a $250,000 industry for the valley this season.

A happy feature of the solution to the impasse, that threatened to leave tons of tomatoes rotting in the fields through the elimination of this vital outlet, is that every factor has entered into a spirit of compromise.

The B.C. Canned Foods Association, representing all the canners in the Interior, as well as the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board, has definitely agreed to accept tonnage at a price of $14 for No. 1's and $9 for No. 2's.

The Interior Vegetable Marketing Board has decided to accept the offer, which is a slight reduction from what it originally stipulated. The Board first asked $9 for 2's, and $15 for 1's.

From Victoria comes word that the Industrial Relations Board will also rescind the overtime rates for employees in canneries while working on tomatoes. This order is made effective as from today, Thursday.

This concession from Victoria, it is stated, will be of great advantage to the canneries and to the growers, enabling tonnage to be handled efficiently at the time of maximum deliveries. Formerly, the upward scale of overtime rates made it prohibitive for the canneries to operate in the extra hours, though at times it would have been most desirable to do so. Workers are reported quite satisfied with the new arrangement.

Another fact that gives rise to enthusiasm throughout the Interior is that there are assurances of a large tonnage being handled.

Statements made from the canners have led to an announcement by Col. G. Macdonald, Minister of the Interior, that "more tomatoes will probably be canned this season than last." Last year, 13,000 tons went to the canneries.

Col. Macdonald also announces that all tomatoes, for canning purposes, are to be marketed on the basis of grade, the grades to be determined by government inspectors whose decision shall be final.

Certificates of authority to market may be obtained by such canners as obtain licenses under the Board's scheme, and applications are going forward from the canners for re-instatement.

As agreed upon at a meeting of canners and members of the Board, at a meeting held in Kelowna last January, all contracts for the purchase of tomatoes are to be based on the form of contract used by the Canadian Canners (Western) Ltd., at Ashcroft last season, with the inclusion of some extra clauses.

INDICATIONS OF GOOD DEMAND FOR VALLEY TOMATOES

Enquiries In Strong Volume From As Far East As Winnipeg Market

Semi-ripe tomatoes, after being retarded for some time, are now moving towards the usual reasonable market volume under the hot and dry conditions of the past week. They have not, as yet, however, reached real quality, though sales at present are fairly healthy, and the end of the week should find the main crop showing up.

Though there is considerable competition from the United States, and the price has been also helped to fill up the market, Okanagan shippers report that they are getting a gratifying number of enquiries from as far east as Winnipeg, and are endeavoring to keep up with the demand.

The pre-ripening plants at Kelowna and Vernon are shipping to speed up production, but if the price should fall below $1.00, it would be prohibitive to further output in this line.

The price now stands at $1.25 for 4-bushel crates, and $1.50 for lugs, and the Vegetable Agency, with the co-operation of the shippers, seems to be making every effort to maintain the price to the best advantage under the circumstances.

One fact that is not lost sight of is that there is protection of only 20 per cent this season, as compared with the 50 last year, which included the dump duty. Under the terms of the Canadian-U.S. trade agreement, there is no dump duty specified for tomatoes.

Quantities of all other vegetables are now available. Cucumbers continue to be offered in great volume. There is a fair movement generally, though one exception are onions. In these, there has been practically no movement as yet.

It is reported that 15,000 bags of Australian onions were sent right across the border from the Coast, on a consignment deal, and the result is that acres of fall planted onions in this area, now ready for the market, are finding no demand.

An interesting feature of this Australian deal is that one Coast dealer is reported to have sent back two to three thousand sacks to the Interior again, the demand there being better than on this continent.

As regards fruit, the deal is yet not an active one. Dulcinea are barely mature, though quite a few are coming on the market, with Transparents a little behind. This week has seen the start of variety sales, in very small volume. There is the old box of apricots, and a very few Transparents, cranberries and peach plums. Early crates of cantaloupes have made an appearance, but there are practically no peaches yet. If the present hot weather continues at all, there should be a quick upswing in the very near future. Cherries can be regarded as piver, with some stocks still held in storage.

New Teachers Are Appointed

J. F. McLean, Miss Marjorie Dimmock, and Miss Anna Fulton To Join High School Staff Here—Two Vacancies Yet To Be Filled For Elementary School Classes—Vote On New School Plebiscite May Be Early In September

Three new teachers have been appointed to the staff of the High School in this city.

Action in this regard was taken by the School Board in order to fill the vacancies arising from two resignations, and so as to provide for supervision of an extra room which will be made necessary next year, under an expected large increase in pupils.

The new teachers will be J. F. McLean, formerly of Oliver; Miss Marjorie Dimmock, well known as a teacher here up to six years ago, and recently on the staff at Prince Rupert; and Miss Anna Fulton, of Vernon, who for the past two years has been teaching at Kelowna.

Commenting on the new appointments, Trustee K. W. Kinnard emphasizes the fine standard of teaching that has been maintained by the two teachers who resigned, Miss Laura Geighrig and Miss Kenna MacDonald. Therefore the Board was anxious to obtain as valuable substitutes as possible, and those who have been appointed come to their new duties here with very high recommendation, he reports.

The school should really have nine rooms in the forthcoming term, it is also pointed out. But because the arrangements will be on a "make-shift basis" as regards accommodation, pending the outcome of the plebiscite on a new school, the Board plans to keep its commitments down to the minimum.

An extra room is to be provided, in a small building adjacent to the main building, and this will make eight classes.

An attempt will be made to get by under such circumstances, and this has been another factor prompting the Trustees to seek as good teachers as could be secured, to work under the adverse conditions," according to Trustee Kinnard.

This new building, as in the case of the one put up last year, will be temporary, and it will be salvaged, in the event that a new school is built.

There has also been one resignation in the Elementary Schools staff, as Clarence Fulton, Jr., will enter the university in the fall term. It will be necessary, moreover, to provide for another room, in outside quarters, which will mean appointing a second new teacher.

These Elementary School appointments have not yet been made, nor have arrangements been completed as regards the additional pupils' quarters.

"The Board has not yet reached a decision as to the definite date for holding the plebiscite on the new school question, but the vote may possibly be early in September, according to some indications. The Trustees hold the opinion that the hot mid-summer period, when many are out of town, is not the best time in which to hope for a representative vote."

URGE SUPPORT OF FRUIT EXHIBITS

The fact that the Interior Provincial Exhibition is endeavoring this year to improve its fruit exhibits at the annual fair at Armstrong has prompted A. K. Loyd and C. A. Hayden, President and Secretary of the B.O.F.C.A., to circulate all the prominent shippers, urging their co-operation to make the exhibits representative and impressive. "They maintain that the commercial pack competition should appeal to the shipping nature of the shippers, it would stimulate growers to put up better packs, and go a long way towards starting a real display."

RELIGIOUS MEETINGS ON BARNARD AVENUE NOT TO BLOCK TRAFFIC

For some time past indications have been given that religious meetings on Barnard Avenue on Saturday nights have caused considerable obstruction and confusion to traffic on the thoroughfare.

In token of this civic authorities are understood to have amicably concluded an agreement with officials in charge of these meetings whereby they will not hold services on Saturday nights on Barnard Avenue between Vance and Whitham Streets.

Ambulance Service Here In Near Future Seems Assured

Civic Drive Gains Momentum—Also Possibility of Service From Another Source

Vernon and surrounding districts now seem fairly definitely assured of ambulance service in the near future, and from one of two sources.

Plans have this week been formed for the civic drive for funds, following preliminary work by a committee of the Fire Brigade, headed by Cecil Johnston.

In addition, another development, which may possibly make a drive unnecessary, has come to a head in the past day or two. This concerns the announcement by G. Winter, of Drumheller, Alta., who intends to open undertaking parlors in this city, that he will, under conditions not yet known, provide an ambulance.

In answer to a wire sent on Tuesday asking for information, Mayor E. W. Prowse received a reply to the effect that Mr. Winter is submitting his conditions in writing. This letter should be in Vernon today, Thursday, and until his terms are known the drive to secure an ambulance is more or less at a standstill.

In this connection Mr. Johnston states that he was given to understand by Mr. Winter that he would gladly give a donation, in any event, towards purchasing an ambulance locally.

Following is a summary of activities here up to Tuesday in the drive to obtain an ambulance for the city by public effort.

At a meeting called to consider this question in the Board of Trade room on Monday night, and attended by representatives of some 14 local organizations, Mr. Johnston, as chairman, (Continued on Page 4, Col. 4)

VERNON IS NOW RECOGNIZED AS ST. JOHN'S CENTRE

Mayor Prowse Is President Of New Ambulance Group—Awards Are Presented

The Fire Hall recreation room was the scene of a pleasant function on Friday evening of last week when, following a supper, a presentation of certificates, vouchers, and a label to a medallion was made to the 21 men qualifying in the winter classes of the St. John's Ambulance work, held under the auspices of the Vernon Fire Brigade.

The presentations were made by Dr. F. E. Pettman and others in attendance were Aldermen A. C. Wilde and David Howie, the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, who spent the week end visiting his constituency, and Dr. S. G. Baldwin. In all, including those who had earned awards in the course in the past year, about 40 sat down to supper.

Mayor E. W. Prowse acted throughout the evening as chairman. Winners of certificates were: A. Baillie, L. Roberge, N. Tucker, C. Carter, D. McMechan, J. Johnston, A. G. Downing, L. Defoe, J. Thorburn, N. Call, A. Wesenfeld, H. Pilkington, W. Ladner, L. Marrs, G. Gregory, Vouchers: F. A. E. Meacham, C. Anderson, J. Garven, G. W. Wakefield, F. Ellis. Label to a medallion, W. J. Harris.

B.C. May Appeal On Stated Case

Privy Council Hearing On Validity of Marketing Act Will Be Aimed At Clarifying Fire Picture, Declares Hon. K. C. MacDonald—Application Now Being Made—Ottawa Will Not Intervene

The probability is that the province of British Columbia, in carrying its appeal to the Privy Council on the question of the validity of the Marketing Act, will do so on the basis of a stated case.

While this question is in the hands of the Hon. Gordon Sloan, B.C. Attorney-General, and it is up to him to make the decision regarding the nature of the appeal proceedings, it was the statement of the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, who visited here recently, that the stated case proposal is being regarded with considerable favor.

It would be possible, in the opinion of Dr. MacDonald, "to give a more adequate picture of the whole situation," and at the same time obtain conclusive rulings on certain questions of infringement in this way.

This view is also held by Grotte Stirling, M.P., according to press interviews he has given following his return from Ottawa to the valley.

J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., outstanding Vancouver lawyer, who is now in the Old Country, will make the application for the appeal proceedings immediately, Dr. MacDonald explained. He expressed the hope that the case would be heard as soon as possible. "But proceedings before this highest judicial body can never be rushed, and it might be the fall, at the earliest, before the case is heard."

A fact learned from the B.C. Ministry of Agriculture, in the course of his visit to this constituency, was that (Continued on Page 5, Col. 5)

KELOWNA ANGLER LANDS BIG TROUT

Fishing Conditions Good In Nearly All Lakes and Rivers, Report Shows

Fishing in Okanagan Lake this week, Pat Runsey, of Kelowna, landed a 14-pounder, using a steel line with pearl wobbler. When fishing from Chapman's rocks, small spinner and live baits are good.

At Penticton, B.C., Summerland, from early in the morning up to 10 p.m., use sunken fly, the experts advise.

Kalamalka Lake fishing is good from the rocks about seven miles from Vernon, from early morning until very late in the evening. Fly or pearl spinner should be used.

At Beaver Creek there is fishing above the intake and the creek fishing is good.

At Kettle River it is good on fly and spinner near Rock Creek.

At Dee Lake a United States angler, using a fly, landed six fish averaging 4 pounds.

"The Little River fishing is good on fly and small plug.

Boat Lake and Caribou Lakes are good on fly and spinner.

Sugar Lake, from the Lundy end, is good on fly and double spinner.

At Mabel Lake and River the fishing is good on fly and spinner; 2,000 fish were taken out of one chuck in this river.

At Beaver Lake fishing is good from early morning up to 10 p.m.

REACH AGREEMENT ON NEW LIGHTING FOR BARNARD AVE.

Fourteen Flood Lights To Be Used In New Program Drafted By Council and Hydro

An agreement has been completed between the City Council and the West Canadian Hydro Electric Corporation Limited on the installation of the new flood lighting system for Barnard Avenue. Three more lights, making a total of 14, instead of the 11 originally agreed upon, will be set up.

The cost will be about $150 more for installation, with the three additional lights, but almost one-third less electrical energy will be consumed, making a saving during the year almost equal to the increased outlay.

In the absence from the city of Alderman A. E. Berry, his place as chairman of the electric light committee has been taken by Mayor E. W. Prowse, and it was under his direction that the new agreement was made.

TOURISTS ARE NOT CHARGED LICENSES

KELOWNA, B.C., July 21.—The Kelowna Board of Trade has received a reply from the Commissioner of B.C. Police in answer to a recent communication regarding reported discourtesy to tourists at the Alberta boundary.

The Commissioner stated that bona fide tourists are not charged license fees providing that their stay is under six months. If, however, a visitor declares that he intends to take up residence in B.C., then a license is charged.

In the discussion that followed it was decided that this last created friction and restricted the normal flow of the Canadian tourist trade, and should therefore be modified. The secretary was instructed to write the Calgary Board of Trade to find out the situation there.

"Old Sol" Hits High Spots

Temperatures ranging from over 90 degrees on several days to a high of 98 on Monday last have been officially recorded in Vernon as summer has struck with full force in the Okanagan.

The present heat wave, after comparatively mild temperatures for some weeks, commenced on Wednesday last week when the mercury rose to 77, on Thursday to 87, on Friday to 90, on Saturday to 93, on Sunday to 94, and on Monday to 98. Since that time, however, "Old Sol" has shown a slight tendency to slacken off. Tuesday reading being 97, and Wednesday 96.

The forecast for the immediate few days is fine and "very warm" so Vernon and Okanagan residents can look forward to continued hot weather yet.

Osoyoos Dispute Brings Out Varying Views Of Methods Of Board's Control Scheme

Vegetable Board Maintains That Policies Have Been Fair As Possible

While growers in the general Osoyoos area seem to be moving ahead in their plan to separate from the control of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board, as indicated in the dispatch in the adjoining column, members of the Board seem to be of the opinion that the situation will soon clarify.

Col. E. Poole, manager of the Vegetable Agency, reported on Wednesday that he was awaiting word, that day, of the definite establishment of a provincial scheme. Under this scheme, he implied, all areas could be brought into line, but there was no intention of forcing an issue with the south. There a certain measure of "internal control" has been applied in the past, notably in the cantaloupe deal, and this will not be interfered with. And as to other issues, he felt that they could be cleared away amicably.

It is understood that the Vegetable Board takes the viewpoint that if the growers of the southern area involved could have learned of details of the production over a wider area, that they (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

Mayors and Reeves Association, In Session Here, Urges Lower Interest Rate

No Intention To Repudiate

Strain Upon Taxpayer Should Be Eased In Conformity With Market Trends

Contrasting the ever increasing burden that has been placed upon municipal taxpayers with the fact that interest rates throughout the Dominion are being considerably reduced, the Okanagan Valley Mayors and Reeves Association, at its meeting held in this city last Saturday afternoon, gave strong endorsement to the idea that all municipal bonds should be made callable.

If this were permitted, it was pointed out by Mayor O. J. Jones, of Kelowna, and other valley municipal leaders, it would be possible to issue new bonds at interest rates more in conformity with the current market trend, thereby easing the financial strain, and helping to eliminate that situation whereby an ever increasing number of property owners have found it difficult or impossible to meet their taxes.

It was pointed out that the provincial government has in some cases permitted by legislation a refunding of some municipal debts, and that it has been intimated by members of the government that a refunding of the municipal debt throughout the province is not wholly undesirable.

The question of refunding, as introduced by Mayor O. J. Jones, of Kelowna, brought the statement from Mayor E. W. Prowse, on behalf of Vernon, and Reeve E. J. Sunderland, of Coldstream, that they wished to avoid everything bordering on the suggestion of repudiation.

Mayor Scanlan had introduced a resolution, which had previously been circulated to Interior councils, and which had been turned down by Vernon. This called upon the cities and municipalities of the province to request collectively that the provincial government pass enabling legislation, at the next session of the House, "to provide for a refunding of the whole of the bonded indebtedness of the cities and municipalities at a rate of interest not to exceed 3 per cent."

The resolution also suggested guaranteeing the refunded debt both as to principal and interest by the government, and the provision of complete control of the future borrowing of such cities and municipalities as may refund.

One Hundred Per Cent Support In Insurgent Movement In South Rumored

OLIVER, B.C., July 21.—All but one grower of the 150 vegetable and vine crop producers in Oliver and Osoyoos districts have signed a new agreement with the Southern Okanagan Co-operative Vegetable Growers' Association, giving the association authority to handle the sale of their crops. A 100 per cent sign-up is expected.

The association is now negotiating with shippers for the handling of the cantaloupe crop, which is just starting to come on the market, and according to information today a satisfactory deal is expected. W. H. Fleming, cantaloupe expert from California, is again supervising the picking and shipping of the cantaloupe crop for the association.

Dissatisfaction with the prices and method of handling the cucumber crop by the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency this year is the reason given by officers of the association for this effort to control the marketing of their produce. The association hopes, it is stated, to market their produce in an orderly way, and to release accurate (Continued on Page 4, Col. 6)

CAMP HURLBURT IS PRESENTING VERY ACTIVE SCENE NOW

Camp Hurlburt, the camp of the Religious Education Council on Okanagan Lake, has been resounding with the merry laughter and banter of a group of young folks representing Pentecost, Summerland, Kelowna, Vernon, and Armstrong. While the numbers are not large at the Young People's Camp, they are considerably in advance of previous years. A fine fellowship marks the camp, and in spite of the intense heat, the young folks are having a wonderful time, boasting swimming, hiking, and around camp fires.

Educational Courses

A number of educational courses are being given. The Rev. Dr. W. W. McPherson, of Kelowna, is presenting a course on "The Making of the New Testament," and Bert Fiddes, of Vancouver, the camp leader, courses on "Social and Recreational Leadership" and "Principles of Teaching." The Rev. J. Scott, of Summerland, will take up "Mornings with the Master," and Bruce Barr, of Pentecost, has given an interesting course on "Church Music." During the week the Rev. R. W. Hibbert, General Secretary of the Religious Education Council of B.C., visited the camp and led discussion on "Christian Youth building a New Order," dealing with social problems. A feature of the camp has been the memorable chapel services. Last week-end a record number of interested young people and friends visited the camp, and the majority remained until after camp fire. The camp has been one of the happiest and best yet held, and augers well for future camps.

Boys' Premier Coming

On Friday next the Trail Ranger and Tuxis boys will take over the camp under the direction of Mr. Fiddes, assisted by E. A. Lynch, of Armstrong, John Stewart, of Kelowna, and Randolph Valair, of Vernon. Visiting the camp and assisting in the program will be Bruce McLagan, Premier of the Tuxis Older Boys' Parliament, and Lytle Curvey, of Chilliwack. A new feature has been the introduction of life saving and handicraft under Bob Lloyd, of Vancouver. Excellent work is being done along these lines.

Okanagan Municipal Leaders Would Make Bonds Callable

When this resolution was presented some time ago to the Vernon council, it was turned down on a number of grounds. Objection was taken to the preamble, where social service costs were drawn attention to. The suggestion seemed to be that if refunding were permitted, the municipalities would be justified in assuming these charges. Mayor Prowse renewed this objection at the meeting here on Saturday, and the result was that the clause in question was struck out.

Mayor Scanlan declared that it had not been the intention of the framers of the resolution to let the municipalities ever acknowledge their responsibility for social service charges, and so as to avoid any misunderstanding he consented to the elimination of the clause.

It was Mayor Jones, of Kelowna, who pressed strongly for a further modification of this resolution, asking that bonds now outstanding be made callable.

The province now permits the issuing of new bonds, which would be callable, but this has not been made applicable to issues still outstanding, it was explained by some of the delegates.

It would be unfair to seek an arbitrary cutting down of interest rates, Mayor Jones declared, without giving the holder of a bond an opportunity of taking the principal and re-investing it elsewhere, if he thinks he can secure a better interest rate.

"If the bond-holder can get a better interest rate, he should be allowed, in all fairness, to do so," Mayor Jones asserted. "On the other hand, if he finds he cannot get a better rate, then it proves our point that municipal bond interest rates are now altogether out of line with general market tendencies."

When Mayor Prowse asked what effect the lower rate would have on the selling prices of the bonds, Mayor Jones said that the best authorities state it would depreciate them by merely one-eighth of one per cent.

The amount of bonds on the market tends to depreciate the selling price, he stated. In the case of Kelowna, if its present bonds were callable, it could bring them in, and pay off with the city's holdings in other debentures. Mayor Jones said that the best authorities state it would depreciate them by merely one-eighth of one per cent.

VERNON DEFEATS SALMON ARM 7-2 IN BALL FIXTURE

Elmer Crawford's Home Run In Sixth Inning Provided
Thrilling Feature

A nice total of 14 hits, including Elmer Crawford's home run in the sixth inning, spelled a 7-2 victory for the Vernon baseballers over the luckless Salmon Arm team in a one-sided Interior League fixture at the Polson Park diamond on Sunday last.

Founding the offerings served up by the opposing hurler with considerable ease, the locals also got behind their own moundman, George Sparrow, in fine fashion, snapping the ball around the field in neat style, with only the occasional error. Sparrow started off the game in a convincing way, and at the end of the nine innings he had eight strike-outs to his credit.

Playing under a blazing sun with the temperature hovering above 90 degrees, both teams dished up a very creditable brand of ball for one of the season's smallest crowds, while Crawford's hit provided the highlight.

Jack Calvert came home for the first run of the game in the opening half of the third, scoring when Antilla fumbled a short pitch from Sparrow on Jack Morton's bingle. Two put outs had previously been made and but for the error a run would have been saved.

Not to be outdone, however, the locals replied with three runs in this same inning. Scherle scored Sparrow on a nice single to left field. Antilla advanced Potchecary to third and Scherle home, and Crawford connected to send Potchecary in.

A nice double play was the feature of the fifth inning. With the bases loaded and only one out, down Sparrow was in a tight spot and was faced with Salmon Arm's good hitter, Jackie Jones. Potchecary nabbed a drive down second and threw to Antilla, who promptly sent the ball back to Fallow on second base who found Jack Calvert off the sack.

On Sunday next Vernon travels to Revelstoke to engage the Indians in a regular league tie.

Okanagan Mayors and Reeves Suggest Municipal Control Of Beer Parlor Licensing

Resolution Adopted at Session Here Last Saturday Would Also Hand Over All License Fees to Councils

Licensing of beer parlors came under the scrutiny of the Okanagan Valley Mayors and Reeves Association, at the session held in this city last Saturday afternoon.

Meeting together to consider resolutions prior to the annual convention of the B.C. Municipalities, to be held in this city next September, the members of this valley association gave considerable attention to a resolution introduced by Mayor C. E. Scanlan, of Kamloops.

This resolution drew attention to the fact that in practically every municipality in B.C. there are establishments where beer is sold by the glass. The licensing of these premises is wholly in the hands of the B.C. Liquor Control Board, and the whole of the revenue derived from the licensing of these premises goes to the Board, a part of which is paid back later to the municipalities in the form of grants.

After some discussion the delegates went on record as favoring:

1. That in the granting of licenses for the sale of beer by the glass, where such licenses are issued to an individual or corporation to carry on business in a municipality, that the officials of the Liquor Control Board be compelled to consult with the Municipal Council of the municipality where such license is to be granted, as to the number of licenses to be granted within the municipality, and as to the premises wherein such business is to be carried on.

2. That 100 per cent. of the revenue derived from the licensing of said beer parlors, and also clubs, shall be collected and held by the municipalities in which such licenses are granted.

Mayor C. E. Jones, of Kelowna, said that an analysis of police costs might prove very interesting. He ventured the suggestion that, in some cities, 50 per cent. of police work, costs, and cases, was attributable to beer parlors.

"It would seem to me," he remarked, "that the municipalities should not only obtain the license fees, but a percentage of the profits as well."

The rumor that the government might be seeking to take over beer parlors completely was drawn into the discussion, but the consensus of opinion appeared to be that this development was not at all clearly indicated as prospective government policy at the present.

Cubs Had Enjoyable Time on Annual Outing to Otter Bay

GOOD FISH STORIES ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

Fish stories are general at the moment and welcomed at any gathering but as to their digestibility... the amused glances of the listeners often reflect that.

The Comox Argus has of late reported several good ones. It appears that several children on Stuart Island, near Courtenay, have had a few blueback salmon for pets. The fish are credited with being so tame as to reach out of the water and grab proffered oatmeal from the children's hands. Another prize one is told by George Stafford of Surge Narrows. He hooked a spring salmon weighing 16 pounds and during the battle of pulling it in a huge ling cod grabbed the salmon. He was successful in landing both fish. The cod weighed 30 pounds.

TO BUILD POST OFFICE

KELOWNA, B.C., July 20.—The sum of $40,000 has been appropriated for the Post Office to be built in Kelowna. Sixth Annual Camp Marked By Presentation of Awards To Many Boys

After four days under canvas at Otter Bay, the sixth annual Cub Camp concluded on Saturday last. There were 27 Cubs from the 1st Vernon pack, 18 from the 2nd Vernon pack, 5 from Lumby, and 5 from Oyama.

The camp Cubmaster, H. R. Denison, was assisted by the Rev. and Hon. T. R. Heneage, L. R. H. Nash, George Whiten, Basil Hartley, of Lumby, A. J. Trewhitt, of Oyama, and Cub Instructors Donald Larsen, Bill McKenzie, and Jack Dalziel.

One of the features of visitors' day was the presentation of First Stars to the following: Cubs, Gordon Finlayson, Harold Austron, Eric Denison, Rodney Garrett, Ramsay Shaw-MacLaren, and Verney Craig, while Eric Nielson received his Second Star.

Bobby Neil and Billy Christien, Second Star Cubs, were presented with two proficiency badges each, and, as a fitting climax Peter Seaton was presented with the Cub medal for Proficiency by Scouter T. Heneage.

Evening camp fires were in charge of Assistant Cubmaster George Whiten, and they were an outstanding success this year.

The badge work accomplished during camp, reflects great credit both to the leaders and to the Cubs themselves. It is necessary to pass seven equally important tests for the first star and nine tests for the second star and a total of sixty-six of these were awarded. Billy Deeks added his name to the list of star Cub on the last day of camp.

After the star tests come 12 proficiency badges, and following are the results of these:

Swimmers' badges: Bobby Megaw, Billy Simms, Linwood Valair, Robert Clayton, Ellis Lindsay, John West, Graham Drew, Ronald Dennis, Guy Greenwood, Billy Deeks, Michael Dunkley, Billy Christien, Ramsay Shaw-MacLaren, and Verney Craig. Toy-makers' badge: Peter Seaton, Eric Nielson, Junior Livland, Billy Christien, and Harold Sigale. Observers' badge: Bobby Neil, Eric Nielson, and Junior Livland. First aid badge: John Tener and Eric Nielson. Homestead badge: Junior Livland. Athletics badge: Eric Nielson. Guide badge: Bobby Megaw.

NEW ARMSTRONG PASTOR INDUCTED

Service Was Conducted By the Rev. Dr. J. H. Davies, of Vernon, on Friday Evening

ARMSTRONG, B.C., July 21.—A meeting of Kamloops-Okanagan Presbytery of the United Church was held in Zion Church, Armstrong, last Friday evening at eight o'clock, at which the Rev. Gordon G. Boothroyd was inducted into the pastoral charge of the congregation. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. J. H. Davies, of Vernon, who also delivered the charge to the new pastor. The Rev. J. Curry Thomson, of Enderby, addressed the congregation.

At the close of the formal induction service a social hour was spent in the church parlor, when a good number of the members and friends of the congregation had an opportunity of meeting the Rev. and Mrs. Boothroyd. The Rev. Mr. Boothroyd preached his initial sermon in Armstrong on Sunday morning, taking as his text a verse from Revelations, "Behold I Make all Things New."

BEAVERDELL ROAD TO BE IMPROVED

Kelowna Board of Trade Informed That $10,000 Will Be Spent On Improvements

KELOWNA, B.C., July 21.—The Kelowna Board of Trade, at a meeting on Tuesday, was informed in a communication by the Minister of Public Works that $10,000 has been appropriated for improvements to the Beaverdell road. There is still a strip of road about three miles long, between Grand Forks and Kelowna territory, which is in a poor state. It is believed that any work done on this part will be in charge of the Bell mine interest. Secretary E. W. Horton was asked to interview O. P. Roberts, assistant district engineer, to clarify the situation.

B.C. REDUCES INTEREST ON MUNICIPAL LOANS

VICTORIA, B.C., July 22.—Interest charged by the Provincial Government to municipalities for unemployment relief and other loans was cut by Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, here, from 4 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent, retroactive to July 1. This follows the reduction in interest paid by the government to its bank from 4 1/2 to 3 1/2 per cent. The new municipal rate affects about $1,000,000 of borrowings, most of this amount having been loaned for relief purposes.

NEW SCHEME PASSED

The B.C. hothouse tomato and cucumber industry was brought under strict control of the provincial marketing act on Wednesday, by order-in-council passed at Victoria. A new marketing plan for the Fraser Valley dairy industry was laid before the provincial marketing board Wednesday.

Over 100 truck drivers and owners were present at the second meeting of the Vernon District Truck Haulers' Association meeting in Harwood's Garage on Saturday night last.

Fred Harwood, who was named president of the association, reports that committees are now working on a plan to have stabilized hauling rates, and other organization details are being attended to.

Interest is keen, Mr. Harwood states, and many others, holding private and commercial licenses, will join up in the immediate future.

Over 50 Kinsmen, their wives, and friends, enjoyed a very pleasant dinner and dance in the Tourist Hotel, Okanagan Landing, on Wednesday evening last.

BRICKYARD IS NOW ONE OF BUSIEST SPOTS IN VERNON

Local Industry, After Weathering Depression, Enjoys Benefit of Building Boom

A local industry that was started five years ago, weathered the difficulties of the depression period, and is now enjoying the full benefits of the remarkable building boom here, is the Vernon Brick and Tile Company, owned and managed by D. N. Ferguson.

Since early this spring, the plant has been operating at or near peak production. At times 4,800 bricks a day have been turned out, to answer the demands of Vernon contractors, but as fast as they could be made, and Mr. Ferguson has had difficulty, on various occasions, in keeping up with the request for his products.

During the past week, the bricks were being manufactured at the rate of 2,500 to 3,000 daily. When a good stock is put up, the output is naturally slackened, but for many months Mr. Ferguson has found it difficult to keep this stock at anything but the barest minimum, as house after house, and many other buildings, have been constructed in the city. The result has been that a staff of five has had steady employment, at good wages.

Mr. Ferguson's bricks are a very excellent cement mixture. He obtains his sand from the city pit, and all supplies that he can obtain locally are purchased here. He is concentrating on the production of natural colored brick, and also the red varieties, in which a mixture of iron oxide is used. The six-brick hollow-wall tiles are also being featured, and red "triples," which are proving popular in two-tone brick wall effects. Fireplace bricks are also a specialty.

A prominent Vancouver testing laboratory tested 84 by 4 inch red brick, 19 days old, and found that it sustained a pressure of 2,418 pounds per square inch; and a grey brick, 16 days old, stood 1,865 pounds per square inch. This, Mr. Ferguson contends, is a remarkable performance for such bricks, so soon after their being made. Inspectors of the B.C. Insurance Underwriters' Association have also found these concrete bricks most satisfactory from a fire resistance standpoint, and have given Mr. Ferguson certificates to this effect.

Wide Market Established
The plant has, from the outset, given emphasis to quality, and the result has been that the product has gained a wide and highly deserved popularity throughout the whole district. An evidence of this is a recent order for a building—75 miles beyond Kamloops, and 16,000 have been delivered to Revelstoke. All intervening points have been supplied liberally from time to time. The bricks, when tried out under all circumstances, have stood up splendidly, Mr. Ferguson says, and this has resulted in repeat orders and widening sales.

"There isn't any place in Vernon that's busier than ours," says Mr. Ferguson's recent proud statement, when representatives of the Vernon News were shown over the plant, and also inspected the house adjoining that Mr. Ferguson is building, using his own bricks.

AMBULANCE SERVICE NOW SEEMS ASSURED

was named to appoint an executive committee to form plans from among those attending.

His selection, announced on Tuesday morning, is J. Dean, Elks chairman; Mrs. J. Landon, Scottish Daughter; Dr. H. Campbell, Brown Kinsmen Club; L. R. Clarke, Rotary Club; Major P. J. Locke, Legion. This executive will form all plans for the drive to be made among Vernon and district citizens, if necessary, and will also contact civic lodges and organizations.

Among others at the gathering on Monday were Mayor E. W. Prowse, Alderman A. C. Wilde, Chief Ben Dickinson, and A. G. Downing, of the Fire Brigade; Mrs. C. Johnston, Eastern Star; Mrs. B. R. LeBlond, Chrysler Chapter, I.O.G.E.; C. E. Little, Knights of Pythias; Nelson Gull, Woodmen of the World; E. G. Sherwood, Oddfellows; A. A. Shaw, Elks; and The Vernon News representative.

The sum of about $600 to $800 might have to be raised by public subscription, the meeting learned. The City Council has agreed to supply one-third of the necessary amount, estimated to be from $1,200 to $1,400. This situation, of course, may be altered considerably, in the development involving Mr. Winter.

Some intimation was given that the lower figure of $600 would be ample for the purchase of an ambulance and some equipment. On this basis the city's contribution would amount to approximately $400. The Vernon Jubilee Hospital Board has promised $100, the Fire Brigade an equal amount, the Vernon Steam Laundry $10, leaving, by this reckoning, less than $600 to be secured from the city and district.

In addition, the civic authorities could approach the government for support on the grounds that the ambulance will be used throughout the district. The city showed the need for service outside the city area, were presented by Mayor Prowse to the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, when he was in Vernon over the week end, and he viewed the request with sympathetic attention.

His Worship further outlined the Council's attitude towards the ambulance, declaring that as it would serve the whole district it was not thought fair to have the full burden fall on the taxpayers who would form but a small percentage of those requiring the service.

While definite plans have not as yet been made, the only place as yet found suitable to house the vehicle is in the Fire Hall. There it would be on call at any time, and Chief Ben Dickinson has given assurance that drivers can be procured voluntarily.

APPLE ESTIMATE FOR OKANAGAN NOW 4,244,265 BOXES

Latest reports on estimates for the 1936 apple crop in the Okanagan give the total yield as 4,244,265 boxes, an increase of some 84,000 boxes over last year, according to a table compiled by the Tree Fruit Board, over the signature of G. A. Barrat. The estimates were prepared by the various shippers.

The McIntosh crop is expected to amount to 1,558,185 boxes, almost 100,000 boxes more than last year. A considerable increase is also given in Wagners, the respective totals being 115,564 and 69,030 for 1935. Still another variety showing more than a year ago is the Newtowns. The 1936 estimate is 325,236 boxes and the 1935 is 277,244 boxes.

Following are the estimates for the main 1936 varieties: Cookers, 33,618; Wealthy, 274,302; Jonathan, 580,000; Banana, 51,447; Spy, 108,533; Grimes Golden, 60,525; Early sundries, 104,069; Delicious, 428,960; Romes, 126,231; Spitzenberg, 57,770; Stayman, 57,020; Winesap, 171,132.

The 1936 estimates show another large yield for pears, following the bumper crop of last season. The total Interior crop will run to 219,588 boxes, with the Okanagan accounting for 202,298. The 1935 Okanagan production was 226,733 boxes.

Prunes, however, will be less than for three years past, the new production being estimated at 159,173 boxes as compared to 255,253 in the preceding crop.

The total Okanagan apricot crop this season will be only 5,259 boxes with no shipments from the Kootenays. In 1934 the Okanagan had a yield of 217,299 boxes.

Plums show a drop of 30,000 boxes over last year with the Okanagan having a crop of 50,537 boxes this year.

There have been predictions in the valley that the peach crop will be larger than last year, but according to the Board figures such is not the case. The estimates show a 1936 crop of 92,686 boxes in the Okanagan and 124,242 last season.

BOARD MAINTAINS POLICIES BEEN FAIR

would never have assumed the attitude that they did.

Prices prevailing on cucumbers were not to the satisfaction of those growers. There was the request by their association that the quotation on cucumbers, for example, be maintained at 50 cents.

Yet, from information to hand at that time, the Board knew that cucumbers were being delivered at the rate of around 1,500 cases per day, from that area. At that time they were also available from Vernon at the rate of between 2,500 and 3,000 per day.

In a wire to the association on Saturday, July 11, from the manager of the vegetable agency, it was predicted that 3,500 cases would leave Vernon that day. As a matter of fact, however, over 6,000 were shipped.

On Wednesday of last week, there was as many as 10,000 available from this city alone. Added to this was the fact that the Kelowna district was picking, and that Kamloops was expected very shortly thereafter.

Experience has shown the Board that it is imperative to keep the movement coinciding with production if chaos is to be prevented, and this can be done only if the price is kept up unduly once production is nearing the maximum.

Apart from all other considerations, it is argued, the quickest way to cause bootlegging is to retard movement by holding prices too high and thereby causing a glut, and a cucumber glut surely seems to have been starting. It is held that the price is kept up unduly once production is nearing the maximum.

To these contentions, moreover, may still be added the fact that the Coast had many cars of hothouse cucumbers, "spines," which seemed to be dumped on all markets at any price.

With regard to semi-ripe tomatoes, there is the possibility that the Board may have suffered this year through not having its own fieldman in the Okanagan area. Uncertainty of finances made it impossible to do this, and other information, as best could be obtained, had to be relied on.

From such information as did come to hand, the prospective quantities, members of the Board state, showed that the movement had to keep active with an expected daily increase, at normal rates, it was apparent that it would be necessary to be getting down to somewhere near the seasonal price in order to avoid backing up.

Last season, when the price was held too high over too long a period, it was necessary finally to bring down quotations with a crash.

The Board this year therefore adopted a policy of bringing down prices gradually, graduating this to achieve the seasonal price co-incidental with maximum production.

The Board seems willing to admit that the price might have been maintained at $2.00 for a longer period but the members maintain that they acted in the wisest manner, regarding the information that was to hand. The weather seems to have been the real devil in the piece.

Regarding the objections that have been taken to commissions, which are higher when prices are high, and vice versa, the following reasons are understood to be those on which the Board has based its policy.

At the commencement of the season, with short crops, prices are higher. This means, however, that the shippers are, relatively speaking, put to a great deal more work. They may have to assemble them at local points for picking in mixed cars. If this should be Vernon, it costs 40 per box to get them from Oliver, and to this must be added the additional trucking charge if grown in Okanagan. And it is doubtful, the Board states, if there is an average of 80 per case left, out of which must be provided a nice profit. And still the shippers must protect themselves against a decline in price and make it profitable.

Later in the season, the commission drops because re-shipment is not such and detailed information on crop estimates so that a fair price, in keeping with supply and demand, may be maintained.

In addition to the recent dissatisfaction over prices as set on tomatoes and cucumbers by the Vegetable Board, there have been difficulties over a lengthy period in regard to operations. The Vegetable Board has set packing costs, the idea being that every grower should receive the same net price for his product. It is pointed out in some quarters, however, that this objective has not been attained. A grower who packs his own vegetables, for example, hiring his own help, may find his costs greater than the Board has specified. He thus gets less for his product than his neighbor who may be getting his vegetables packed for the Board's allowance.

In this connection it has been charged that co-operatives have been discriminated against. They cannot operate as they once did. Practically every local has had a different packing charge, and it is impossible to impose an arbitrary charge without an over-unbalanced losses or profits. The arrangement is held to be contrary to co-operative principles, as the objective is to operate at cost.

Selling charges are also criticized. It has been the policy to increase the allowances when prices are higher, and lowering when prices drop. This is held to be inequitable, and the price is based on the packing house at the latter point. But if a co-op grower's product is to be transferred, the Association has to pay the costs involved.

The situation, last season, prompted the Associated leaders to suggest that the Agency name selling prices (i.e. the car and stop there. Failing that, there was the more radical suggestion that the various shippers be appointed as "selling brokers." All matters in connection with sales would be handled by the Board after orders had been received. This, it was suggested, would remove discriminations then arising.

These, and other factors, which have drawn criticism particularly from the Okanagan area in the past season, may underlie much of the dissatisfaction originating there more recently.

a factor once the seasonal price is reached.

Emphasis is placed, by the Board, on the fact that shippers take most of the risks in drops in prices affecting goods in transit. This risk is naturally greater at the commencement of the season when prices are being dropped to coincide with quantities available.

"Any Board must take a very broad view and attempt to see conditions as they affect the whole area," according to Col. E. Poole, manager of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Agency. "It is obvious that if its policy can be dictated by the wishes of the growers of any one district, the Board's efforts must prove a failure."

After two weeks spent on a holiday trip to Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Atkinson returned to Vernon on Sunday last. While at the Coast, Mr. Atkinson played with the Vernon team in B. C. cricket week.

After several months' absence in the Old Country, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hodgson returned on Tuesday to their home at Kalamalka Lake. Following an Atlantic crossing on the "Queen Mary" they motored here from the East.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dick, of this city, accompanied by Mr. Dick's mother from Fergus, Ont., who has been visiting here for a considerable period, left on Wednesday by motor for a holiday at Vancouver.

J. B. Spurrier, prominent Kelowna sportsman, was a Vernon visitor on Wednesday. He reports that excellent catches are being taken on the fly at Beaver Lake, especially after the heat of the day, and up to nearly 10 o'clock in the evening.

Every employer of labor will sincerely hope that Alton Peebles' wish may be granted and that the Health Insurance Commission may be able to work out a simple system of making returns. First forms are to be filled in and returned before the end of July.

Flood damage to the highway between Sicamous and Revelstoke, except for two small areas, has now been almost repaired. It is announced from Victoria this week. Between Penticton and Osoyoos, care must still be exercised at Okanagan Falls, but the road is open for travel.

After a lengthy trip as far east as New York and Atlantic City, Dr. and Mrs. S. G. Baldwin and their two sons have returned to this city. Dr. Baldwin was a delegate from the Rotary Club to the International convention, held during the latter part of June, in Atlantic City.

The death occurred recently in the Essondale Mental Hospital of "Bill" Thomas, a well known and likeable figure in this city and district for many years. Prior to his admittance to the hospital a few weeks ago, he had been working at the Eldorado Ranch. He was a noted plowman and for several years he had carried off first prize in district plowing competitions.

To cycle to this city all the way from their homes in Leithridge has been the experience of two young men who have been staying in this city after their strenuous trip. They are Albert Little, a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Oliver, of this city, and his companion, Jim Ferguson. They left their homes about the last of June, proceeding in a leisurely manner west. They camped along the road while en route. The boys, who are leaving this week end on their return journey, have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver.

A wedding of wide interest to many in this city and district was solemnized recently in Holy Rosary Cathedral, Vancouver, when Frances M. "Molly" Akerman, until a year ago a member of the elementary schools teaching staff here, became the bride of Howard J. Carlin, of Vernon. Miss Akerman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Akerman, of Puffin Harbor, and the groom is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carlin, of Tappen. The Rev. Fr. Roland Roberts, a cousin of the bride, officiated. After a tour of Vancouver Island, Mr. and Mrs. Carlin will reside in Vernon.

Playing at Summerland on Sunday last a tennis team from the Country Club went down to defeat before the strong southern club by ten matches to two. The local players were only one ladies' and one men's doubles contest. The Vernon team members were Miss Sheila Simmons, Mrs. P. S. Sterling, Miss Mary Jackson, Miss Daphne Grieve, and Ronald Dean, John Theed, Gene Homer-Dixon, and J. R. Eldston. A Kamloops team has been invited to play a return match at the Country Club on Monday afternoon. The local team were pleasantly surprised at the excellent condition in which the Summerland Club's board courts were kept, and enjoyed the play, despite the adverse results.

Victoria got in touch with Ottawa before announcement was made that the province would definitely launch an appeal. The B. C. authorities were anxious to know what attitude the Dominion would take, and the reply was that Ottawa would not stand in the way of such action.

Until the Privy Council appeal is decided, it leaves Victoria naturally in doubt regarding its marketing powers. The injunction granted by Mr. Justice Murphy recently, in a Coast Vegetable Marketing Board case, considerably affects the B. C. hopes to govern export crops. Hence no drastic powers, in this regard, will be embraced, and this will affect policy regarding the two interior control boards.

"However, I am not at all in agreement with the suggestion that we cannot even inspect crops moving, if they are stated to be for export. It seems to be the obvious intention of some Chinese at the Coast to announce some shipments for export, and then bootleg them on to the domestic market. This is very unfair. A game warden has every right to stop a motorist, and see if he has been breaking the game laws. Similarly we should be privileged to discover whether or not a shipment is legitimately for export, or for domestic sales. At any rate, if we find any unlabelled potatoes on Coast markets, they're going to be confiscated."

"If nothing else could have convinced me of the value of marketing control, it was a recent deal at the Coast," Dr. MacDonald says. "When a Seattle market developed for B. C. potatoes, through drought conditions in the United States, some growers were quite willing to let the crops go at $8 per ton. However, the Board set a price of $13. Later it rose. Some quotations were as high as $35, and it averaged about $20 per ton."

Experience has taught every sincere observer that there is need for control, and control with compulsory features, the minister emphasized. "It is a queer state of affairs when a B. C. act is thrown out as ultra vires, as was the case a few years ago, and now a Dominion statute, aimed in the same direction, has met a similar fate. Surely the power must reside somewhere. It is our intention to gain as great a measure of clarification as possible in the forthcoming Privy Council appeal, and every effort will be made to that direction."

On the agricultural situation in general, Dr. MacDonald said that, despite the need for readjustment of control, he had hopes that markets would remain sufficiently stabilized everywhere, so that the movement already under way, for the benefit of the consumer, would not be checked. The prairie drought, he declared, opens up markets for many B. C. agriculturists.

May Go To Ottawa

He might, he said, visit Ottawa upon the return of the Hon. J. Gardiner from Europe, and confer with him in regard to the Dominion's future policy in marketing control.

Dr. MacDonald arrived here from the Coast last Friday. He spent Saturday morning in Kelowna, Saturday afternoon in the Armstrong area, and left again for Victoria, via Salmon Arm, on Sunday.

OBITUARY

Eva Mae Ferguson

Many in this city were exceedingly sorry to learn of the death in the Vernon Jubilee Hospital on Tuesday afternoon last of Eva Mae Ferguson, the seven-year-old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ferguson, of this city.

A young pupil of exceptional promise, the little girl, in her first year at the elementary schools here, had passed third in a class of 43. She was also a dancer of marked ability and was one of the stars of Dorothy Wyatt's recent revue. A student at the Vernon United Church Sunday School since she was two years old, she had, since starting, a perfect attendance record, being awarded a bar, pin, and wreath. She was also heard frequently over the radio, giving her first performance at the age of three.

Funeral services, with the Rev. J. H. Davies officiating, will be held this afternoon, Thursday, at 2:30 o'clock from the Vernon United Church. Interment will be in the Vernon cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Langrock

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Langrock, in her 75th year, occurred on Saturday of last week at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Briard, of this city.

Mrs. Langrock was born in Illinois, U.S.A., in 1861. At the age of 23 she married Henry Langrock, who survives her. Following their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Langrock lived in Iowa and in Washington, moving to Lacombe, Alta., in 1905. At that centre they celebrated their golden wedding in 1934. She was an active worker in the Lacombe United Church.

In ill health for the past two years, Mrs. Langrock came here in 1935 to make her home with her daughter. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from Campbell's Undertaking Parlors with the Rev. Dr. J. H. Davies officiating. Interment was in the Vernon cemetery.

Besides her husband in this city, Mrs. Langrock is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Oscar Wilson, Hemaruka, Alta.; Mrs. O. T. Gunn, High Prairie, Alta.; Mrs. Jack Briard, Vernon; two sons, Fred Langrock, Lacombe, Alta.; Will Langrock, of Burke, Idaho; eleven grandchildren, and one great grandchild. Will Langrock and a granddaughter, Mrs. A. O. Fryer, of Kelowna, attended the funeral.

Two of the pallbearers were Dr. Sharpe, of Lacombe, a friend of the family for the past 31 years, and Sam Watt, of Armstrong, and formerly of Lacombe.

WILL QUEBEC LEAD OFF?

GRIM faced judges on the Supreme Court bench are opposed to innovations. Legality and precedent bulk large with them. Their job is to see that the law is obeyed. It must necessarily be so. They have not taken kindly to Okanagan Valley marketing legislation. It cuts across too many established precedents. The courts have ruled adversely on two marketing experiments from which the horticulturists of British Columbia had great hopes.

The rest of Canada has apparently looked on British Columbia as lightly embarking on legislative experiments. The Produce Marketing Act with the Committee of Direction as its administrative body, went out under a ruling as to its legality. British Columbians were leaders in securing the Natural Products Marketing Act from the Bennett Government. They were the chief ones to set up schemes under the act. The people of the province of Quebec have been here looked on as in a measure standing in the way of progressive marketing legislation. Of course their problems are different and no doubt the barrier of language which they so assiduously cultivate, is a bar to thorough understanding. They are far removed in mileage.

Therefore the proposal by Premier Adélard Godbout of the government's program which included farmers' bonuses and minimum wages for workmen not protected by a collective labor agreement, came as a great surprise.

Premier Godbout is the head of a party which is under a sad cloud. He is the successor to Premier Taschereau and has to bear the odium of at least some of the sins of his predecessor in office. If ever a leader gave his people something to think about, other than the sins of his political forerunners, it is Premier Godbout.

In a speech outlining the government's program, he set it out roughly as follows:

"Farmers established in old rural centres will receive a bonus of $10 an acre, up to five acres, each year, for lands which need to be cleared, drained and otherwise placed in a state for proper culture."

And to help the farmer meet foreign competition, the Government planned a bonus of 1 1/2 cents a pound on cheese to run from Oct. 1 to May 1, to compensate for high winter production costs.

From Nov. 1 to Aug. 1 the Government proposes to pay a bonus of $1.50 for each pig raised by Quebec farmers and classified as "select" and $1 for each pig classified as "bacon."

From August 1 to November 1 these bonuses would be $1 and 75 cents, respectively. In addition, the Government plans to pay 25 per cent of the cost of building modern pigeries, with a maximum of $100 a pigery.

"As another step to aid agriculture, the Government will appropriate $2,500,000 to intensify the policy of land drainage," the Premier said. "The sugar beet industry will be stimulated by bonus payments and the Government will lend special efforts toward stock-breeding."

Mr. Godbout said an office would be established to dispose of agricultural products. It would double duty, directing production and selling produce through agents in London and New York.

The Premier promised $500,000 would be directed toward colonization. "Colonists will be chosen for their integrity and competence and bonuses for clearings will be raised from $10 to $15 an acre up to five acres a year and until thirty acres have been cleared and put into cultivation and twenty acres actually plowed," he said.

"In effect, bonuses which are deserved should replace allocation for unemployment here, as elsewhere," added the Premier. "Relief works will replace charity."

Whether the promises made will ever be implemented is another thing. The electors may choose another government. But in the event of Premier Godbout winning the election, Quebec ought to just about lead the world in its stimulation of agriculture. Nothing so drastic or so far reaching has ever been incorporated in a political platform seriously offered the electors of this province.

It would do the rest of Canada a lot of good for Premier Godbout to win the Quebec election and then to try, as the Alberta premier is trying, to implement his promises.

A "REVOLT" IN SOUTHERN AREA

GENERALLY the Okanagan fruit and vegetable growers blame their marketing troubles on the shippers. This year is an exception to the rule. The Southern Okanagan Vegetable Growers' Association threaten to disrupt the course pursued by the Vegetable Marketing Board. The cause is a different one from that generally laid at the door of the shippers but the effect may be the breakdown of that measure of stabilization almost severed previously by the expressed opinion of the Supreme Court on the legality of the Natural Products Marketing Act. There is positive opposition to the Board organized by the growers and dominated by their nominees.

The fact that the growers may have grounds for dissatisfaction with the Vegetable Marketing Board's operations and recommendations does not altogether alter the situation. Dissatisfaction with the Board that can only find relief in a gesture of defiance, is questionable business. It may prove more costly than submission to what may be considered, from limited knowledge, as incorrect deductions. It will be noted that the more responsible shippers have been very careful not to challenge in any way the Board's rulings though no doubt they have many times felt an inclination to do that very thing. The southern vegetable men have not set them a good example. It will be noted that the names of men who have been prominent in growers' movements are not mentioned in this connection.

The point on which the break occurred is the question of prices for cucumbers and of tomatoes. The growers are of the opinion that the price reductions were given too abruptly and were too generous.

The merits of these contentions are difficult for any person to form any opinion on, who is not immediately in touch with the markets. This is the reason there are shippers in the business. If the growers knew crops in competitive districts, supplies in their own, the freight rate structure, and the thousand and one details which influence a seller and a buyer, there would be no advantage in entering into a contract with a shipper. Supplies could go forward direct from the field.

For instance, it is unlikely that the revolting growers in the Osoyoos and Oliver areas know that, this season at least, they are only a jump ahead in production. It might surprise them to learn that on Monday the Kamloops area sent 700 packages of tomatoes to market. In the July 10 issue of The Vernon News, there was information on the supplies of cucumbers and the rapid tumbling of prices. The advantage the southern growers enjoyed in some of the other years of being so much earlier on the market with their products, is not theirs this year.

On Hearing Debussy's "Après-midi d'un Faune" For the First Time

*No slant-eyed faun, in sunlit glade
Freckled with moving shadows of green leaves,
Appears for me. Deep waters, dark and cool,
I see, as sound its strange enchantment weaves.*

*The sun shines, and the shadows move.
The music throbs; but I am far away,
Falling in a dream to other worlds
Where only vaguely comes the light of day.*

*Below, the ocean's unknown floor,
Its secrets opened up for me; and far
Above, beyond vast green transparencies,
The small pale sun, like some half-burnt-out star.*

*In coral caves, in dim twilight,
Fantastic fishes, in fantastic trees,
Build nests like birds, and all without a sound;
And, as though shaken by an earthly breeze.*

*The seaweed branches bend, and gleams
Of jewel-colors flash along the ways,
As idle currents stir the ribboned fronds,
And the whole oceanic forest sways.*

*The gurgling music stops—abruptly,
Leaving me stranded on an alien shore.
The sea its magic made dissolve and fade,
And I may dream no more.*

Vernon, B. C.

—GRACE S. JACKSON.

The above poem was the one submitted by Miss Jackson which secured for her the third award in the 1936 competition sponsored by the poets' group of the Montreal Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association. It is interesting to note that the work of this Vernon resident won such favorable attention among the 760 poems that were entered in the competition.

There is dissatisfaction in areas, where there are no Orientals, in the measure of the competition their products are subjected to from districts where the production is largely in Oriental hands.

There is also dissatisfaction over the fact that it costs them probably twice as much to market a crate of their early tomatoes and cukes as it does the more northerly areas. They get the advantage of the high prices which prevail for first products, but they object to paying for the high costs of assembly which are the accompanying factor. The Board endorsed the practice employed by the independent shippers of charging more when assembly and selling costs were higher and reducing charges as costs shrink, rather than the co-operative principle of a uniform charge throughout the season.

These are some of the underlying causes of discontent which culminated in the so-called revolt by some growers in the Oliver and Osoyoos areas. There are of course many others, some of which are largely because of their distance from and lack of acquaintance with the very real problems of marketing.

The episode is one over which there is a good deal of regret. There were already more than enough obstacles to the orderly marketing of this season's crops without this break by growers.

YOUTHFUL HUNTERS WIN SPLENDID AWARDS

MAJOR Allan Brooks, now holidaying at the Queen Charlotte Islands, would have derived pleasure and profit had he been privileged to attend the Vernon Fish and Game Protective Association meeting on Friday last. At this meeting, two beautiful pictures by the gallant Major, were awarded members of the Association who had taken no small part in the war on predatory birds of which he is so ardent an advocate.

The pictures were won by Art Sarsons and Tom Thorlakson, who between them accounted for 364 magpies. The winners are both young men. Their performance was roundly applauded by a gathering composed largely of young men who will live to destroy much vermin.

Invited to tell of their experiences and the many trips their high scores recorded, the youthful and bashful Sarsons disclosed that a number of youths participated in many of the hunts which converged mostly on Cosen's Bay. During the outings no less than four rattlesnakes, several of them in their most dangerous state (when blind through shedding their skins), had been dispatched. He said they had difficulty in killing both old birds and their young. If the old birds were killed the young had time to get away and if the young were given attention first, the old birds were speedily well beyond range. Tom Thorlakson, whose family already has a Major Brooks painting, acquired for killing vermin, did his hunting with a .22 calibre rifle and many times he said he wished he had a shot gun. His hunting was done mostly on the Commonage, near his home, at odd hours and on Sundays.

Art Abbott, who was one of the high guns, and is another skilled young hunter, following the regular meeting, asked Game Warden Charles Bill if he had ever heard of a pheasant nest in an old maple's nest. He, or one of his companions, saw the tail of a bird protruding from an old nest and climbing to it seized the tail feathers. It was a hen pheasant and she covered 16 of her own eggs.

The most youthful hunter to qualify with 100 points, for the drawing for the two paintings, was George Bingley, who in addition to being a good shot is an ardent fisherman securing several good catches in Kalamalka lake.

Many of the hunters assembled told of finding huge quantities of song and game birds eggs on the ground adjacent to crow and magpie nests. One and all are sworn enemies of these rapacious killers and the ears of many owners of house cats must have burned at the nightly depredations of "Pretty Puss" were recounted.

GOOD MARKETS FOR FIELD CROPS

ANOTHER year of short or spotty crops on the Prairies makes it more difficult for the fruit grower in British Columbia to make a profit. There is no arguing this point and there is no denying it. Aside from all humanitarian ideas, there is regret that the Prairie, north and south of the international boundary line, which seemed to have so promising a crop should see it wither in the heat.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, while deploring the loss for Prairie farmers, points out to the farmers in British Columbia, the probability of securing good prices for the hay, grains, and other field crops now ripening in this province.

His words are timely. The Prairie conditions he points

The Art of Pipe Smoking by Tom Melville

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself has said,
I think I'll throw away this snipe,
And start me in to smoke a pipe.

There comes a time in every man's life when he wants to smoke a pipe, and it is for the uninitiated souls that I pen this article. There's an old saying that a man can't help falling in love, but the stuff he smokes in his pipe is his own fault. As all men are judged by their tobacco, there is no doubt but what the saying is true. Thus, if you contemplate the purchase of a pipe, it is best to amass as much knowledge on the subject as you possibly can. Pipe smoking, after all, is an art, and deserves your every attention.

To start with, there are three styles of pipes, the straight style, the saxophone style and the colligate style. The first is straight-stemmed and never over five inches long, while the second or saxophone style is bent in the middle, and the bowl is capable of holding a quarter pound of shag at one time. The colligate pipe, affected by the youth of the country, is over a yard in length, and has to be pulled apart before it can be put in the pocket. Some of them are so long they have to be carried around in golf bags and are often mistaken for putters.

It is not safe for a mature person to smoke one of these, although the college lads seem to get by safely enough. At one time an open season on college boys with pipes was a moot question, but nothing ever came of it. There are more things shelved in parliament than this world ever dreams of.

After you have purchased one of the above mentioned pipes, your next move is to purchase some tobacco. You may use your own judgment in doing so, because one man's brand is usually another man's poison. Nevertheless, your big moment has arrived. Stuff your pipe to the limit with the weed, apply a match or two, and puff away for all you are worth. As an aroma akin to that of boiling cabbage fills the room, a mellow light appears in your eyes, and your entire face assumes a benevolent aspect. You are at peace with the world. Right now your wife could inform you that her mother is coming to spend the winter with you, and you wouldn't even bat an eyelash.

As the room turns from a blue haze into something like a forest fire, you are becoming a full-fledged smoker. Keep on puffing, even though you now feel a wee bit green around the gills. It's determination that wins! After a bit, the room turns black and smoke starts to pour out of the windows and door. Eventually some kindly neighbor calls the fire department, and the chief arrives—just as you are knocking the ashes from the bowl of your pipe. Regardless of what the fire chief says or thinks, you are, now considered a true smoker, and you may wend your way through all walks of life, with your pipe stuck firmly between your teeth without experiencing any embarrassment whatsoever. You've made the grade.

Nevertheless, a pipe smoker's path is far from rosy. Sometimes he has to run the gauntlet of severe criticism levelled at him by non-smokers. Should you have occasion to light up in their presence, and one of them remarks that your pipe smells like someone is shoeing a horse, pay no attention to the quip. The fellow is probably jealous of your accomplishment. After all, to get the best out of a pipe, it should be a little on the vile side.

Some people may even designate your tobacco as marsh hay, or old rubber heels. Laugh these accusations away. Do not lose your temper when some guy mentions something about your pipe smelling like a wet goat beside a hot stove. Instead, puff furiously away on the brier and lay down a barrage of thick blue smoke that will surely win for you any argument the lads may care to get into. You have a weapon much superior to anything they have to offer.

Pipes, after some usage, are inclined to get a wee bit soggy, and may have to be overhauled. Authorities differ on this subject though, and there is no set rule. Some are in favor of a rigid non-cleaning rule, while others maintain that pipes come under Section A, subsection D, paragraph six of the Sanitary Act of 1904. (See Hansard, page 9,934.) I say, let your conscience be your guide. If your pipe becomes so crusted and so plugged, that it neither draws nor lights, you really should do something about it. A plugged pipe is hard on matches, and many a plugged-pipe smoker is traced by the trail of burnt matches he leaves in his wake. Criminals, of all people, should never have plugged pipes.

There are several methods of holding a pipe in your mouth. Right handers should keep their pipes over on the right hand side of their mouths, while left handers should naturally lean to the left. If you are a Joe College keep the pipe right in the middle of your teeth at all times. Good poise is essential in a good smoker. Always look as if you are enjoying your smoke, even though your eyes water and your mouth tastes as if a bird had built a nest in it. Remember, it takes ten years to make a smoker, and after that you can stuff anything into your pipe from breakfast food to tarred rope, and thoroughly enjoy it, without suffering from any after effects whatsoever.

In closing, let me offer the following advice to new smokers. Accidents are bound to befall you an ill-luck and bad matches may dog your footsteps. In spite of all this, keep your chin up and your pipe lit. Remember, too: It's easy enough to be pleasant

And sunny and that sort of tripe,
But the man worth while
Is the man who can smile
When he's busted the stem of his pipe.

OUR JUDY

Our Judy is a big shaggy brown dog with a white waistcoat. At least it is white now and then anyway. We don't know what breed she is, just dog, we guess. Her mother was a Collie, but Judy is more like an old English sheep dog who has just scrambled through a wild briar hedge. When we got her a year ago, she was just like a big fluffy teddy bear with wicked little beady eyes.

Then she suddenly shot up and grew and grew all in a week or two, it seemed, like a pumpkin does. Only Judy was not pumpkin shaped. We were horribly afraid then that she was going to turn out a weird kind of dogshund. Now we guess she has finished growing at last and is filling out a bit and does more credit to the food she puts away. But she hasn't grown up yet, not her. She will still grab a sock, if a guy leaves one around, one of mummy's mats will do, or fawning with it in her mouth, and coo or one ear and one eye. What Daddy calls her "come hither" look.

Once a little girl visited us, just a toddler. She used to get angry with Judy for taking the door-mat away. She would stamp her feet at Judy. "Bad, bad," she would say, replace the mat carefully and walk away like Mummy does when she is cross. Judy would promptly lie down and let the toddler, and the little girl, pick up the mat and run after the toddler, and the scene would be repeated. Judy would never have tired of the game, but the little girl's dignity was hurt, which was too much of a puzzle for Judy.

Judy has a swell time with water. How she loves running water. She will bite at it and bark as at a living thing. She has worn a tunnel under the bridge and one "sic" will send her through that and down the creek like a flash, with a wake like the Queen Mary's behind her. She can swim too, but look out when she comes out of the water! She insists on coming near someone to shake herself dry and you sure get a shower bath. Still wet she will probably spy a gopher hole and down it goes her nose and great big paws. Talk about making the dirt fly, no cleaner advertisement could beat Judy then. When we laugh, she turns her face around and what a face. It couldn't possibly be any more dirty, or more inquiring! "What's the joke, I can't see it," that is her expression.

As we don't generally carry a mirror, she never does see the joke. Nowadays it's hard work keeping her off the garden. Lettuce and beets mean nothing in her young life, but she is forming a respect for them now. Also she is too affectionate in her welcomes. "Down Judy, Sit," we sternly order, and sit she does, in the manner of a stout lady who gathers her skirts around her and very, very reluctantly sits down.

What Judy loves best in the world is fetching cows. Yes, sir, she's a funny old pooch. Who said dogs were dumb animals! Phooey to them from Us Kids and Mother.—"J.S." of Trinity Valley.

The City Council is having a new by-law drafted to make business licenses more costly for newcomers—Two stacks of hay, a barn, and several farm implements were consumed by a fire on Sunday evening on the Spence property, Commonage, which is farmed by Jack Bailey—Forsythe Smith, Canadian Fruit Trade Commissioner to Great Britain, told a meeting of growers here last week that Britain can and should be made the basic export market for Canadian apples and other fruits—Rapid progress is being made on the construction of the new plant and building for Bulman Bros.—"Tumbleweed" and "Midnight," famous bucking horses of Walsh and "Strawberry Red" Wall's outfit, were sold at auction at Kamloops last week.

Several shots are to be heard almost any day along the Mabel Lake road, and it is well known that large numbers of deer are being killed by the Indians there. The first number of the Pentiction Press, a new weekly, has been received at this office. Harvesting is now well under way in this district, the wheat crops having ripened considerably earlier than for many years past. Among the recent additions to the craft Okanagan Lake is a fine little steel motor boat imported by W. R. Megaw from the U.S.—A rather serious affray occurred near Kelowna last week. W. Lyle found that his water ditch was being tampered with and he determined to put a stop to the practice. He kept watch over the ditch one night and discovered three men attempting to shut off the water. Lyle drew a revolver and his wife wielded a horsewhip with considerable effect. He is charged with drawing the weapon.

Without Railway Facilities Confederation Could Never Have Been Won For Canadians

One Century Ago First Steam Locomotive Operated in This Country Made Its Pioneer Run

It was just 100 years ago, on July 21, that a steam locomotive drew its first trainload of passengers over Canada's pioneer railway, the Champlain and St. Lawrence.

That first train progressed a distance of only 16 miles, between LaPrairie and St. Johns, but that trip heralded the dawn of a new day in the history of this country.

"Without efficient transportation facilities there could have been no Dominion of Canada as we know it today," declared H. K. Cross, in speaking before members of the Rotary Club in this city, at the regular luncheon meeting in the Chateau Cafe on Monday.

As in other service clubs across the continent, the railway centenary was the subject under review at this week's meeting of the Vernon Rotarians, and Mr. Cross, chief clerk of the local C.N.R. staff, and the popular secretary of the Rotary Club for many years, gave an interesting and instructive address in this regard.

"Without transportation Jacques Cartier could never have set foot on his new France nor could fur traders, missionaries and explorers have ventured inland to discover what lay beyond the horizon," Mr. Cross pointed out.

Railroads Pioneered Confederation

It was transportation by water, by land, and by air that made possible the development of Canada. The Fathers of Confederation, seeking to weld Upper and Lower Canada and the Territories into one Dominion saw the need of efficient transport and agreed that railroads should be built between the different sections of the country. Railroad building preceded Confederation.

"This year Canada celebrates a railway centenary," he declared. It was in 1836 that the Champlain & St. Lawrence, first Canadian railroad, operated its first train from LaPrairie, across the St. Lawrence River from Montreal, to St. Johns, Quebec. The Champlain & St. Lawrence is now part of the Canadian National System, and our system is celebrating, with fitting ceremony, the centenary of that first railroad train.

Times and Railroads Have Changed

Times and railroads have changed considerably since that train made its first, venturesome 16-mile run, the speaker explained. The Champlain and St. Lawrence hauled its first trains with horses. Then it acquired the tiny Dorchester locomotive from England to haul its carriages. Canada's steam railroads today operate 5,000 locomotives over their 42,000 miles of combined track-ages, together with 7,500 passenger cars and more than 200,000 freight cars of various types. They employ jointly 120,000 men and women and have an annual payroll in excess of $150,000,000. They spend upwards of $50,000,000 every year in the purchase of Canadian products and materials, in itself an important contribution to Canada's development.

Elaborate Celebrations

The first train was run over the Champlain and St. Lawrence on July 21, 1836. The celebrations of that day were elaborate. The Earl of Gosford, the Governor General, and Lady Gosford, with Sir George Grey and other distinguished guests accompanied by a military band and the leaders of the commercial, social and professional world of Lower Canada made the trip and afterwards sat down to an elaborate banquet and feast of oratory which seems to have lasted for four or five hours. Owing to a slight mishap to the steamer that was to take the guests back to Montreal from LaPrairie, there was a delay in returning to Montreal and the guests were forced to remain at LaPrairie overnight, taking the hospitality and the sleeping accommodation of that little French village to the utmost. However, some of the younger members of the party arranged a concert and dance and apparently they kept it up all night, thus eliminating the necessity of finding sleeping accommodation.

The Dorchester was known familiarly to all the staff of the pioneer road as the "Kitten" on account of its playful antics on the road, especially in starting and stopping. The Dorchester was wrecked on the Lanoraie line in 1864 and all that remains of Canada's pioneer engine today is the name plate.

It is interesting to compare Canada's first locomotive, The Dorchester, with Canada's latest, the 6400 type of the Canadian National Railways, the largest streamlined locomotive in the world.

The Dorchester weighed five and a half tons; the 6400, with tender, weighs 332 tons. The speed of the Dorchester never exceeded twenty miles an hour drawing a light load; the 6400 is capable of maintaining a speed of more than four times that rate. The Dorchester carried one puncheon of water, 84 gallons, and 1 cord of wood in a small car behind the engine. The 6400 carries 12,000 gallons of water and twenty tons of coal.

Used Wooden Rails

The 16-mile line of 100 years ago has grown into the national system with 24,000 miles of line. Moreover there is a vast difference between the tracks of that age and the solid steel rails of today, the 110 pound rail that is laid down on the main permanent way. The first rails of the Champlain and St. Lawrence were of wood to which were applied flat iron bars 2 1/2 inches wide and 4 inch thick. These wooden rails were in use on the Champlain and

MAYOR WIRES HIS CONGRATULATIONS

"Heartiest congratulations to yourself and the Canadian National on the hundredth anniversary of Canada's first steam train," was the wording of a wire forwarded to S. J. Hungerford, President of Canadian National Railways, by Mayor E. W. Prowse, of this city, on Monday.

St. Lawrence road for eleven years when they were replaced by iron rails.

Canada's railroad era should properly be divided into two parts: the first leading to the development of Eastern Canada, the second to the opening and development of the west.

Other small lines sprang up following the building of the Champlain and St. Lawrence and by 1851 there were 66 miles of railroad in the Dominion. Then an act was passed providing for the construction of a line between the two Canadas. The Grand Trunk Railroad, now part of the Canadian National System, was built between Montreal and Toronto, and later extended westward to the international border, to Detroit and Chicago. It was extended eastward to Portland, Maine, giving a winter outlet on the Atlantic seaboard. Other railways were built in the following years, building up the network of steel which superseded the rutted wagon roads which had served stage coaches and lumbering freight vehicles of the pre-railway era.

The building of the Grand Trunk, the Great Western and other lines in that period made possible the development of Toronto and other eastern cities and communities. Then, in 1876, the Intercolonial Railroad was completed, linking the Atlantic winter ports with Montreal.

There had been, therefore, fifty years of railroad progress in Eastern Canada before the Dominion was spanned by the first transcontinental railroad. It was on November 7, 1885, that the last spike was driven in the Canadian Pacific. Then the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific were built, through the Yellowhead Pass, giving Canada three trunk lines to the Pacific Coast.

As these trunk lines were completed, both in the east and west, they required feeder lines to bring traffic to them, so branch lines were built, radiating in all directions. It was the construction of these trunk and branch lines that brought about Canada's greatest era of expansion.

Without railways, settlement and development in both east and west would have been slow and difficult, Mr. Cross emphasized. Transportation was vital if the products of settlement were to be marketed.

As the railways spanned the area north of Lake Superior and thrust onward to Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, they opened the gates to thousands of land-hungry settlers. From the older provinces, from the United States and from Europe, came a flood of immigrants, drawn by the lure of cheap land and free homesteads. With ox, horse and tractor they broke the prairie sod and brought land under cultivation. They built homes and established villages and towns. Sometimes they settled far in advance of the railroad, seeking better land, and confident that soon the echo of a locomotive whistle would proclaim to them the approach of steel, with easier and more profitable marketing of their products.

The railroad era in the west brought other developments. New settlements meant new markets for manufactured products. In reaching the west, and in building through the northern section of the east, the railroads spanned an area which was a veritable storehouse of gold and other valuable minerals. With the railways came men who recognized riches in the rocks against which they stubbed their toes. The discovery of one valuable claim is credited to a blacksmith in a railway construction camp, who found valuable ore in a rock which he had dislodged by throwing his hammer at a ground squirrel.

Transportation has played a major part in the development of Canada, and its work is by no means finished. Railway organizations have played, and still play, a useful part in interesting outside capital in Canadian investment.

While the airplane and motor vehicle have taken their place in Canadian transportation, the railways, the older form of land transportation, have not been asleep at the switch. Recent years brought pressing problems to railway men. Methods and equipment of ten years ago needed revision and alteration as freight and passenger revenues diminished at alarming rates.

Door to door service, with pickup and overnight delivery of freight shipments over a widening area was introduced. In some parts of Canada, freight shipments are handled on passenger trains to give maximum speed in delivery. Many important passenger trains of the two major railway systems are pooled. Schedules have been revised to avoid duplication and overlapping and other important co-operative measures have been made effective during the depression period. Improved passenger train equipment and schedules and the extension of low-rate excursion fares have brought back to the railroads many passengers for whom the novelty of private automobile and bus travel have worn off. Besides these measures of economy introduced, all avenues of savings have been, and still are, carefully explored in order to reduce expenses, while at the same time maintaining safety and rapidity of service which the travelling and shipping public demands, Mr. Cross concluded.

"Be It Ever So Humble"

IT is to the "humble homes" of Canada that the great majority of Life Insurance payments find their way.

Many such homes today would lack the necessities of life—were it not for the "little savings" which thrifty parents have set aside periodically in Life Insurance.

To the family which loses its breadwinner, Life Insurance means money to buy food and clothing—money to pay the rent—money to pay household bills—money to educate the children. Life Insurance also means, in many cases, independence of private charity or public relief.

In your own community, as well as in hundreds of cities and towns across Canada, "little savings" in Life Insurance are doing "big jobs". During the past six years, policyholders and beneficiaries in Canada have received, daily, half a million dollars from Life Insurance.

"Be it ever so humble"—there's no home which cannot have the much-needed protection of Life Insurance.

SUMMERLAND HAS SWIM INSTRUCTION AGAIN THIS YEAR

Earth Tremor Distinctly Felt
By Resident Late Wednesday of Last Week

SUMMERLAND, B.C., July 20.—Swimming classes for children up to 15 years of age are being held on Mondays and Thursdays at Powell Beach again this year, thanks to the generosity of the Pensioner Rotarians, assisted by local donations. The first class was on July 16, when 78 children were enrolled. Allen Butler, of Summerland, is the instructor.

The earthquake tremor was felt plainly here late Wednesday evening by Chas. Cordy, who saw the electric light cord sway in the room where he was sitting, and also heard disturbed pheasants in the nearby orchard.

RED HOMING PIGEON VISITS SUMMERLAND

SUMMERLAND, B.C., July 20.—A red homing pigeon, spent last Friday and Saturday, July 17 and 18, at Crescent Beach here, apparently resting, and glad to be fed. It had an aluminum band with the number 270, on its right leg, and a pale green celluloid band on its left leg. It took flight again early Saturday evening.

Residents are interested to know its home loft, as they do not know any owner of homing pigeons in the Okanagan Valley.

Another novel visitor to Summerland this week is a pet lamb, "Hummy," who has come with Miss Margaret Nott, to stay at the home of Wm. Borton.

LAVINGTON, B.C., July 18.—The weather has been more favorable recently and several residents here are taking advantage of it for fishing and picnics.

ARE YOU ON THE BORDERLINE OF ACTUAL SICKNESS?

Constipation* Causes Discomfort, May Lead to More Serious Troubles

You may have days, perhaps even weeks, when you feel below par. Not sick enough to go to bed, but certainly not at your best. The trouble may be with your diet. Poorly balanced meals can affect your physical condition.

Meals which lack proper "bulk," for instance, may lead to common constipation. Continued neglect of this condition causes discomfort, may lead to headaches, poor appetite, listlessness.

Guard against common constipation.* Make sure the meals you eat contain plenty of "bulk." Kellogg's All-Bran is a generous source of effective "bulk." Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, and gently cleanses the system.

Two tablespoons daily, with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Stubbish cases may require All-Bran often. Serve All-Bran either as a cereal, or cooked into muffins, breads, etc. Eat it regularly for regular habits.

All-Bran is guaranteed by the Kellogg Company. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

$7,000 ADDITION WILL BE MADE TO OLIVER'S SCHOOL

Two School Trustees Were Elected For Three Years At Annual Meeting

OLIVER, B.C., July 18.—Immediate construction of a $7,000 addition to the Oliver elementary school was authorized at the recent annual meeting of the ratepayers of Oliver School District. Tenders will be invited at an early date and the building will be erected this summer.

The school addition will consist of two classrooms and full basement, and will follow along the lines of the present school building.

Rapidly increasing school population makes it necessary to provide more classrooms, and the school trustees had to either enlarge the school or rent a building. Ratepayers at the annual meeting voted to enlarge the school with a two room addition.

At the opening of the last school term it was found necessary to provide another classroom to take care of the increased number of pupils on the roll. This was done by partitioning off a part of the auditorium.

Two school trustees were elected at the annual meeting. Mrs. C. D. Colleen was re-elected for a three year term, and C. E. Huntley was elected for one year to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Frank Erout, who moved to Penticton.

Following the school meeting another meeting was held for the election of a library board for the local branch of the Carnegie Library. Harold A. Ede and C. W. Norton were elected to the library board, and another member is to be elected from Testalinda district.

"The Unguarded Hour" Tells Exciting Story of A Brilliant Young Lawyer

With the production of "The Unguarded Hour" at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, a new romantic theme threads through the gripping scenes of a fresh departure in mystery-romance stories. This film comes to the Empress Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, July 22 and 23.

It unites Loretta Young and Franchot Tone, popular young players who each trail a succession of hits.

Briefly, "The Unguarded Hour" is the story of an attorney whose brilliance enables him to send men to the gallows by circumstantial evidence alone.

In his most sensational case, he finds his wife the witness whose testimony absolves the defendant, after which he himself becomes involved in a crime, trusted in a skein of circumstantial evidence which he cannot break.

TO SPEND $85,000 ON ROADS IN THE VERNON TERRITORY

Half This Sum Will Be Used On Improvements To Route Going South

About $85,000 will be spent in improving roads throughout the general Vernon district during the balance of the summer and in the fall.

This was the announcement made by the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, who spent from Friday of last week until Sunday visiting in this constituency.

Of this total, $60,000 will be shared equally by the provincial and Dominion governments, in accordance with the scheme recently authorized by Ottawa.

The sum of $40,000 will be spent in improving the route from Vernon south. This work is badly needed, in the opinion of Dr. MacDonald, and will be concentrated upon some straightening and widening at various points, and in preparing the road bed for hard surfacing.

On the Edgewood route, $20,000 will be spent in general improvements. The appropriations for these two pieces of road improvement will be shared on a 50-50 basis by Victoria and Ottawa.

The province will spend about $4,000,000 over the whole B.C. area, Dr. MacDonald states. Its program, generally, has been adjusted to take best advantage of the Dominion contributions. Had it not been for this, perhaps something more could have been allocated specifically for hard-surfacing. However, since the Dominion is co-operating with the province in the forthcoming program, there is the strong hope that Ottawa will reciprocate and assist very materially in hard surfacing later. The work now being done, with Ottawa assistance, makes it possible, moreover, to prepare certain routes for an adequate hard-surfacing in the future.

It is stipulated in these joint government projects that 50 per cent. of the work shall be given to the unemployed, and all the labor is to be drafted locally.

Five miles of hard-surfacing is to be completed on the Armstrong-Vernon route. Two and a half miles will be paved from Vernon north, past the most of the orchard lands, and an equal distance will be paved from Armstrong south.

Contract for the work is held by Carter, Hall, Aldinger Company. This company is now at work in the Spences Bridge district, but it is expected that a start will be made in this area in about three weeks' time.

In addition to this work, Dr. MacDonald explained while visiting Vernon, the Larkin road diversion will be completed, and some improvements will be made to Sugar Lake and Mabel Lake routes.

The fact that farmers will be permitted to work off a year's taxes, by work on roads in other sections, should mean improvement elsewhere. This concession does not apply to current taxes, but only to arrears, and only in such cases where it is demonstrated that the farmer is unable to meet the debt against him.

Sarsons and Thorlakson Are Winners of Brooks' Pictures

Weekly Shoots Led To Elimination of 727 Magpies and 105 Crows in District

Two enthusiastic young hunters resident in this district, Arthur Sarsons and Tom Thorlakson, were the winners of the two paintings presented by Major Allan Brooks as trophies for the Vernon and District Fish and Game Protective Association's crow and magpie shoot.

At a club meeting on Friday night of last week in the Board of Trade room, the draw among the 12 hunters who had secured 100 points or over in the competition, was made. For every 100 points gained for destruction of these vermin a ticket was placed in the box.

A notable feature was that the two winners were first and third guns in the shoot, Sarsons having 233 magpies for 2,230 points and Thorlakson 141 magpies for 1,410 points. Art Abbott, the second high man in the competition, secured the splendid total of 161 magpies and 10 crows.

In addition to the main draw, tickets were given to every member present for a chance on four boxes of shells. The lucky holders were L. A. Lang, S. P. Seymour, Miss Phyllis Seymour, and E. Dixon.

In all 727 magpies and 105 crows were turned in during the weekly competitions to Jack Woods' barber shop.

35-Year-Old Car Makes Long Jaunt

This ancient International Harvester auto arrived in Vancouver last week after completing, in 42 hours actual running time, a trip from Vernon to the Coast. It was driven by Harold Burr, Kelowna, behind the wheel, and by Alex Blackburn, Penticton. The car, laid up since 1916, was resurrected at Greenwood and was assembled for the run by Felix Henschke, of this city.

Small Canning Units in The Oliver District to Test Out Prospect of Making Profits

Growers To Operate Their Own Plants, Board of Industrial Relations Is Told

OLIVER, B.C., July 20.—This year several small canning units will be operated in this district under the supervision of the local vegetable growers' association.

The scheme is a test to find out if it is profitable for the growers to process and market their own tomatoes. Growers, rightly or wrongly, feel that they have not had a good deal in this area, and they are choosing this means to "get at the facts" of the situation.

This, at least, was the statement advanced at the hearing before the Board of Industrial Relations last Friday.

Argument Used In Quebec Area

Cheap Chinese labor in the growing and processing of canning tomatoes in British Columbia was the argument used by Quebec canners to beat down their labor costs and prices of raw products, according to one witness who gave evidence before the Board, which has been making an enquiry into the production costs of tomatoes—and other matters pertaining to the tomato canning industry in British Columbia.

Quebec canners, said the witness, a local grower who obtained his information from one who was closely associated with the Quebec tomato canning industry last year, claim that they must keep labor and produce prices low in order to meet the competition of the cheap B.C. Oriental produce.

The fallacy of this argument was especially emphasized as applied to Oliver and Osoyoos districts where Orientals are absolutely prohibited, and the few who have attempted to come here have been hustled out of the country.

Adam Bell, chairman of the board, heard evidence from a number of growers, but there was no evidence from employees who worked in the local canneries operated last year by the Canadian Canners (Western) Ltd.

Mr. Bell stated that although the Oliver canneries was not going to operate this year he wished to get information covering last season's operations by the growers of canning tomatoes.

Cannery tomatoes in Oliver and Osoyoos districts are grown almost entirely for canning purposes only. They are not picked from what is left of the crop after selling on the semi-ripe market. Seventy-five per cent. of the canning tomato acreage last year was of the John Baer variety, which makes an extra fancy pack. The other 25 per cent. was Earliana.

According to evidence given at the enquiry it cost last year from $75 to $100 an acre to grow tomatoes. Production averaged nine tons to the acre, and the price paid averaged $8 a ton. Thus the grower was selling his product at a price below cost, the meeting was told.

Last season the Oliver canneries received 905 tons of tomatoes, and of this amount 128 tons were culls, for which the grower was not paid. Most of the culls were processed, said one witness who was closely associated with both field and canning operations. The same witness stated that the local canning manufacturers last season 221 forty-gallon barrels of culls.

Many complaints were heard against the method of grading last year's crop and growers felt they should have had a better deal.

"THE MUSIC GOES ROUND" HAS AN ALL-STAR CAST

"The Lone Wolf Returns" Is Another Exciting Film On This Same Program

With Harry Richman, Rochelle Hudson, Michael Bartlett and Walter Connolly holding down the principal roles and Ed Farley and Mike Riley, composers of "The Music Goes Round and Around," deliriously pushing those valves down, Columbia's new musical film, "The Music Goes Round," comes on Monday and Tuesday, July 27 and 28 to the Empress Theatre.

It should be said immediately that this film takes its place with the best of them. Right up to the minute in thought and action; serving up the newest jazz craze, "swing" rhythm; brimming over with gay songs, light romance, lovely dancing girls, and genuine comedy, it provides an hour and a half of complete diversion.

Supporting the principals is an exceptional cast. Douglas Umbrille, Lionel Stander, Henry Mollison and Elinore Girdard especially shine. Victor Schertzinger directed without missing a trick.

Another picture on this same program is "The Lone Wolf Returns," starring Melvyn Douglas, Gail Patrick, and Lila Birell.

COLD STORAGE FIGURES

Apples held in cold storage at July 1 amounted to 520 barrels and 27,750 boxes or hampers, throughout Canada, according to government reports.

WESTBANK HOLDS ENJOYABLE DANCE

WESTBANK, B.C., July 20.—Westbank Community Club held a most successful dance in the Community Hall on Friday, July 10, when over 100 people, including a number from the neighboring towns of Kelowna, Summerland, and Peachland, enjoyed the music supplied by the Summerland orchestra.

Supper was served by the entertainment committee and dancing was kept until 2:30 o'clock. The club benefited to the amount of about $30, which money will be used in making repairs to the Hall.

Raspberry Social Enjoyed
St. George's Anglican Women's Auxiliary arranged a raspberry social and sale of work, including home-cooking, on Wednesday of last week. The evening was warm, which brought out a good crowd, and the sum of $18 was added to the funds of the W.A. as a result of the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. A. E. Drought and Mrs. A. C. Hoskins gave several piano solos during the evening, while several of the small children sang and recited.

Miss Elsie Hannam, R.N., of the staff of the Vancouver General Hospital, spent the past fortnight at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hannam. Miss Hannam left on Saturday for Ocean Falls, where she will spend the rest of her holidays.

Officers appointed for this centre are Mayor E. W. Prowse, President; F. Little, captain of the auto company, Vice-President; and Chief Dickinson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Mayor Prowse, as chairman, gave a brief history of the St. John's Hospital. It is one of the oldest orders in existence, having been founded in 1048 in Jerusalem. By 1630 the order had extended to the land of Canada where it flourished until driven out by Napoleon. Since that time, when the order was established in England, branches have been founded all over the world, with headquarters now in London.

Turning to the work carried on here, His Worship said that great interest has been shown, and four large classes have completed their courses in the last three years. Twenty-two members of the Brigade, out of a total enrollment of less than 30, are now qualified.

On behalf of the 1936 class Mayor Prowse presented Dr. Pettman, the lecturer during the course, with a golf sweater, as a token of appreciation. In reply, Dr. Pettman expressed thanks and voiced the hope that the work would continue in coming years.

Dr. Baldwin, who had examined the papers, was then given, on the class' behalf, a handsome auto clock. Dr. Baldwin declared that his part in the work and the time he had spent had been gladly given, and he too hoped that the work would continue.

Introducing the Hon. K. C. MacDonald, the chairman declared that in view of the interest shown in this work and now that the initial step had been taken by the Fire Brigade to secure an ambulance, he hoped that the provincial government when approached would support the measure in a substantial manner. He also stated that those present at the gathering might prevent serious injury and often result in a life being saved, he said.

Speaking of the ambulance project, he stated that while he could not now commit the government, under the circumstances outlined to him, he would endeavor to see that assistance is given to such a worthwhile effort.

Cecil Johnston, chairman of the Fire Brigade committee in the drive to secure the ambulance, outlined the proposal and declared that such a service was a necessity. The Fire Brigade, with its St. John's Ambulance Corps, had undertaken a campaign and already the City Council, the Justice Hospital Board, and the Fire Department had subscribed substantial sums.

He thanked Dr. MacDonald for agreeing to take up the matter of governmental assistance.

During the evening a dozen or more short speeches were given, some by those who received certificates and others by those who had won them in previous years. Each speaker agreed that the St. John's Ambulance Centre in Vernon is off to a fine start.

SHIPPERS' SIGNATURES WILL BE SOUGHT BY THE END OF THIS WEEK

(Continued from Page 1) explains, but Dr. MacDonald intimated that if the scheme is to be a voluntary one, then he would prefer to see the levy a voluntary one.

"If the growers want the scheme badly enough, they should be willing to pay the levies voluntarily," Dr. MacDonald remarked in an interview with The Vernon News while in Vernon last week.

In reporting further on the conference with the minister, Mr. Haskins stated: "I don't want it to be inferred that our idea was turned down bluntly. Fulltest sympathy was revealed by Dr. MacDonald and he said that he would do everything in his power to assist stabilization in the Okanagan. As a first step there is the provincial proposal. As regards the taxation proposal Dr. MacDonald suggested that this would not be favored readily by him, but, if the situation were such that this tax would save the situation, then he would look upon it in an altogether different light. He declared that the government might go to drastic lengths to preserve a fair return for Okanagan fruit producers."

According to the scheme now being drafted, there would be a levy on apples and pears, not to exceed a cent a box. There would be no levies on grapes, or on certain fruits.

Roughly speaking, the scheme contemplates asking the continuance of powers formerly held by the Board, under the voluntary arrangement. The present membership of the Tree Fruit Board would continue, and there would be an arbitration committee of shippers.

This committee would be a varying one. For example, no shipper should be allowed to sit on a case involving himself. The present plan, therefore, is to specify the group of five in the contract with each shipper, and the names would naturally vary in a number of cases.

This committee's decision would be a final one, in the event of any clash, and the growers' leaders hold the view that teeth can be placed in the agreement in this way, without the need for recourse to the courts.

A drive to secure grower support, in the matter of instructing the shippers to deduct levies, will now be initiated. It is indicated, here will be the real test of the whole program. It is expected that the growers will support the support. Will it be forthcoming? This is the question being asked. Some are optimistic, others are doubtful.

One fact stands out, and that is that the shippers seem to be working very effectively in close co-operation. Whether they are brought into the contemplated new scheme or not, they have already given indication of lining up so far in a well co-ordinated gesture towards stabilization.

The Okanagan Federated Shippers held an executive meeting here on Wednesday morning, when the current situation was discussed. Statements afterwards from some of the shippers, were to the effect that the shippers themselves are satisfied that they will work closely together this season.

TOMATO CANNING DEADLOCK ENDED

(Continued from Page One) It is to be agreed between the company and the grower that in the event of any load containing more than 25 per cent. culls, that the grower may refuse to accept such a load.

However, if the company for any reason refuses the daily delivery or any portion of the daily delivery contracted for, the grower is to be at liberty to sell such quantity in any other market which may offer, at not less than the contracted price for No. 1's and No. 2's.

All canners are to be required to return the names of all producers under contract, stating the acreage contracted for, and the tonnage per acre so contracted.

Canners are also required to make payments as follows: For tomatoes delivered during July and August, payment is to be made on September 15 following. For all tomatoes delivered during the balance of the season, payments are to be made in two equal instalments, on November 15, 1936, and on January 15, 1937. Interest must be added on overdue payments at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum.

Another stipulation, of course, is that canners purchase the products of registered producers only. Every grower shall, if required, file with the Marketing Agency a copy of his last financial statement, certified. This, it is explained, is to give the assurance to the Agency that the grower is financially able to carry out his obligations.

Satisfaction with the arrangements, as completed, are shared by general business interests of the Okanagan, as well as by the canners, growers, and workers.

It is remembered that the Associated Boards of Trade of the Okanagan took the lead in arranging conference, involving all interests. The fact that, today, a better spirit exists amid most of the factors in the deal, is no doubt directly due to these Board of Trade conferences, in which Kelowna gave the lead, with the full co-operation of Vernon, and assistance from the other centres. When first efforts proved abortive, a committee comprised of W. A. C. Bennett, Kelowna; W. S. Harris, Vernon; and T. Wilkinson, as chairman of the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board, visited Victoria and interviewed government authorities.

As a result of this delegation's trip to Victoria, the Board of Industrial Relations came to the Interior, and held session at Kamloops, Vernon, Kelowna, and Oliver, details of which sessions appeared in last week's issue, or in other columns of this week's issue.

The concession finally announced by this Board, and made known on Tuesday, coincided with a conference arranged at Kelowna on the same day, at which the Interior Vegetable Marketing Board and spokesmen for the B.C. Canned Foods Association met and reached their decisions regarding the solution. At this conference Willis J. West, of Vancouver, general manager of Canadian Canners (Western) Ltd., played an important part, and W. A. C. Bennett, as representative of the Kelowna Board of Trade, also assisted valuably in the concluding discussions.

OUTSIDE STARS DOMINATE TENNIS PLAY AT KELOWNA

KELOWNA, B.C., July 22.—Quarter and semi-finals in most of the events in the 14th annual Interior of B.C. Tennis Championships, being played on the courts of the Kelowna club this week, will be reached sometime today. Thursday, it is expected, Vancouver and Seattle stars have been showing the way in all events.

The ladies' singles have already advanced to the finals. Eleanor Young, Vancouver, will meet K. McCabe, Seattle, for the crown. All preliminary events having been completed on Wednesday, Miss Young defeated Miss Jocelyn Pease, Kelowna, 6-2, 7-5, in the semi-final match.

Gene Homer-Dixon, the only Vernon entry in the tournament, was eliminated in the men's singles by Nordstrom, Seattle, 6-2, 6-0, in a second round match. Homer-Dixon defeated G. Davis, Kelowna, 1-6, 6-4, 7-5, in the first round.
